

TOILET DYE TEST

There is a simple test you can do to determine if a toilet(s) is leaking and perhaps needs its seal replaced. Simply lift the cover to the back tank of the toilet, drop enough food coloring or one of our dye strips into it to give it good color, and DO NOT flush for at least several hours or overnight. The purpose is to make sure that the color remains in the back tank. However, if the color shows up in the toilet bowl, or if the color from the back tank has totally disappeared, then you need to call a plumber to repair this toilet as it has, what we call, a silent leak.

Place dye in tank

If color shows up in here, you have a leak
